A New Daler Grove

With the vague success of the ritual to move the trees to how they were about ten years ago, Oak Harbor was presented with an unprecedented opportunity to aid the Daler refugees the town has by building up a grove. This was a joint effort between local Dauenstern and the representatives sent by the four different Daler groups. These representatives were Dexter Dyer, Kettle Corrin, Lysette Acacia, and Nate Birch, representing Daler from Aethis, Kresa, Salendale and Celire respectively. While the talks did not start on the best of terms, with every Daler having specific requirements for their trees, a compromise was reached and the grove should have been able to grow quite well now that things have returned to normal.

We at the Oak Harbor Reporter are overjoyed this was accomplished. It is not every day you can grow a Daler grove practically overnight and we hope it can be enjoyed by our local Daler.

Little Victory's Major Success

It is the Oak Harbor Reporter's honor to announce that the hiring of the Little Victory led to the successful defense of the Salendale-Oak Harbor Spice trade route. We can report that several pirates were captured and brought into the custody of the town. While this was not an expected outcome and seems to have created some confusion when they first showed up, the Town Council is now holding the prisoners with plans to bring these pirates before a Dauenstern court for their naval crimes. It is suspected that these pirates are from Luwik, but we at the Oak Harbor Reporter are not sure so it is up in the air whether or not Luwik will try to broker a deal with Oak Harbor over the captured pirates.

The Dangers of Void Crackers

Many of you might know about the arson attempt on the Alchemy guild by one member of our town. Unfortunately, it seems the Cheese Cult has come up with crackers that alter the mind of the person who has consumed them. While the staff of the Oak Harbor Reporter had hoped to never have to cover anything about the cheese cult, informing people of the danger of these crackers is unfortunately something that must be done. We hope to have built up enough of a reputation for reporting on serious matters that our readers understand how frustrating it is to have to give the Cheese Cult any mention but this new "product" should be avoided at all costs.

Oak Harbor Mystics Guild Services

Hello,

We here at the Oak Harbor Mystics Guild have noticed that there are many people looking for information. We here at the guild want you all to know we are willing to sell our services to help you out. The two ways we have to do this are Speak with Dead, where we reach out to a specific spirit in Umbra to get detailed information on a subject, and Spirit Network, where we reach out to a collection of Spirits which won't give us as much detail but can get us information we don't currently have a spirit to go to for. Of note we have experts on Firmament and Reverie out in Umbra we have good relationships with.

For the work we need to put into getting detailed information, we are currently selling Speak with Dead at 2 Leaf per hour of work.

For personal use, we are selling Spirit Network for 3 leaf per hour of work.
