Mushroom Mayhem- Mycordia Gone Wrong

Citizens of Oak Harbor, it is with a heavy heart we inform you that we do not have all the details of this story. However, given the collective this is based around, the Oak Harbor Reporter has found it to be important that we provide what information we currently have. Last gather our editor joined several members of the town on a trip to meet with the fungal collective known as Mycordia. While there were many issues that popped up during such a meeting, most of them were merely issues of philosophy. There was, however, one concerning thing Mycordia had brought up.

Apparently, during their slumber a part of Mycordia began to act separately from the rest of the fungus. Those gathered at the meeting were asked to keep an eye out for such an entity. While nothing concrete can be proven yet, thanks to the work of Oak Harbor's very own Town Crier, we have become aware of a mold spreading through the Witchwood. Towns near the southern edge of the Witchwood have sent a request for aid to Luwik in dealing with a strange black mold. Jarl Pauldrick sent out a group to investigate but we do not at the time of writing have any further details on that investigation.

The Oak Harbor Reporter would like to issue a word of caution to its readers about this black mold. As mold is a type of fungus, we have reason to suspect it might relate to the separated part of Mycrodia. We have no knowledge about how those "blessed" will react or how regular individuals will react. We will be monitoring this story and request any information people might come across so we can share it.

A Battle of Rykta Flagnatcher Versus Flagnatched

On the 32nd of Firmament there was a commotion at the top of the hill in Oak Harbor. It seems the Rykta of the mighty Mogudad Flagnatcher Mcdoogh had caught the attention of another Lothlan with the same Rykta. This Lothlan, whose name we were unable to catch, challenged the Mad Lads in a three v three fight to the death to determine who could properly take the Rykta of Flagnatcher. While we at the Oak Harbor Reporter do not champion violence as a solution, we are also not ones to get in the way of a Lothlan fight such as this.

The skirmish was brief and decisive, with Dolan and Astrophel making quick work of the challenger's accomplices as Mo took on the one who would try to claim the title of Flagnatcher. In the end Mogudad took a pair of flags from the Flagnatched, defending his Rykta with the efficiency one can only expect from a Lothlan whose deeds are on the line.

The Magmyriad- The Conflagration Century Centipede

This massive creature is often called the Conflagration Century Centipede since it hibernates deep underground for a century, coming to the surface for 1-2 years to gorge itself and mate. A territorial and largely solitary centipede, it is easily angered by others of its kind and anything that stands between it and food. Perpetually on fire, it makes large tracks in the undergrowth and burrows in the earth, setting fires believed to help with the health of the forest. Strangely, despite its territorial nature, the magmyriad always comes to the coast to the north or south of the Witchwood to mate. The explorer T'Rashi Widdi in his tract "The Mysteries and Dangers of the Witchwood" in 467 NVR stated that he saw a pair of eggs from a Magmyriad in a cave half submerged in the sea. Experts disagree on the validity of this sighting, many doubting that such a fire focused creature would use a watery cave as a nest.

A Request From The Town Clerk

The Town Clerk would like to put out a request for information. With all that is going on in the town, having a general understanding of what dangers are out there would be beneficial. To the town clerk's knowledge there are already many threats being worked on by different groups without much in the way of coordination. They will be around all gather, happy to take notes on what you are dealing with and assisting in organizing things so you can know who else is working on the same thing. Hopefully their desire to organize things can assist you in your endeavors.

A Remote Course in Remedial Poetry

Lesson 2

The once was a scribe named Gimrick,
Who passed his test with a Limerick.
This poem so plain,
With 5 lines (like cinquain)
Has a meter that's quite easy to stick.

Dactylic dimeter,
That is more challenging.
This foot has three beats, the
First one is strong.

Doubled in two stanzas,
multi-metrically
Each with a choriamb
Rhymes like a song.

Dry Weather Causing Fire Concerns

The unusually dry summer in Tortaira is causing increasing concern among librarians that the buildings, and therefore the scrolls, will be more vulnerable to fire. Additional precautions are being taken to help prevent this looming catastrophe. Candles have been banned from the nearby buildings and buckets of water have been placed at strategic locations. The librarians have also been organizing fire drills and bucket brigades so an effective response can be mobilized quickly in the event of a fire. Experts are advising the citizens of towns in southern Lazuria and northern Marsega, which have also seen a dryer summer, should put similar precautions into place, even if they do not have knowledge to preserve.

Oak Harbor Mystics Guild Services

Hello,

We here at the Oak Harbor Mystics Guild have noticed that there are many people looking for information. We here at the guild want you all to know we are willing to sell our services to help you out. The two ways we have to do this are Speak with Dead, where we reach out to a specific spirit in Umbra to get detailed information on a subject, and Spirit Network, where we reach out to a collection of Spirits which won't give us as much detail but can get us information, we don't current have a spirit to go to for. Of note we have experts on Firmament and Reverie out in Umbra we have good relationships with.

For the work we need to put into getting detailed information, we are currently selling Speak with Dead at 2 Leaf per hour of work.

For personal use, we are selling Spirit Network for 3 leaf per hour of work.

Body Found In Harbor

The body of an elf washed up in the harbor in Tortaira on the 6th of Euren. This was initially met with an assumption that it was someone who fell and hit their head and that they would eidolon soon. After approximately half an hour of people making this assumption, the situation was brought to the attention of the Guardians who secured the scene and started an investigation. Porter Yoln was placed in charge and declined to comment, though seemed visibly unnerved when approached.

Missing Tanar, Thought Dead, Returns

Tanar Vinatoro Baranos, Master of the Imperfect Arts, Industrious in the Invisible Arts long thought missing, was rescued earlier this year and has since returned to Salendale. The return of the Tanar has been discussed fairly widely within the University but sources differ significantly about the details. Before he disappeared, Tanar Baranos held the position of Tanar of the Imperfect Arts in Salendale. This was considered a controversial appointment at the time because while Tanar Baranos' work had been within the Imperfect Arts for many years, his initial work was with the Invisible Arts. University Leaders at the time preferred to appoint Tanars who spent their careers within one sphere. Tanar Baranos reportedly demanded he be reappointed to his previous position as it was vacant at the time of his return.

Unusually High Spirit

While some Erurish spellsingers might be concerned about the health and safety of their champions, that cannot be said to be the case for one Moravia "Lee" Lee. With multiple champions visiting the gatekeepers three times in as many days, rumors persist that something strange is going on. When discussing things with these champions, they claim that when you become a champion of Lee's your spirit increases.

The Egg Of Holding

Among all of Oak Harbors many strange people, there is one wizard who delights in being the strangest. Caldune Zeliauar, student of the arcane and of alchemy, has been seen walking around with the strangest piece of fashion. He calls it the egg of holding, and claims it is bottomless. While we here at the Oak Harbor reporter cannot verify this claim, we can say that when an Emissary was on the hunt for a piece of obsidian, the Egg had some to spare.
